By 2040, approximately 35% of all global sales will be BEVs. This will put electric vehicle sales at close to 40 million per year globally, meaning a lot of energy will need to be stored by batteries. Bloomberg New Energy Finance expects that at this point, that electric vehicles will be pulling more than 1,900 TWh from the grid each year.

Effect of charge and discharge rate on battery performance and capacity. Effect of charge and discharge rate on battery performance1. Problems with rapid charge and discharge(1) Battery heatingRapid charge and discharge will generate a large current inside the battery, causing the battery to heat up.
