The neutrino is perhaps the best-named particle in the Standard Model of Particle Physics: it is tiny, neutral, and weighs so little that no one has been able to measure its mass.Neutrinos are the most abundant particles that have mass in the universe. Every time atomic nuclei come together (like in the sun) or break apart (like in a fission reactor or particle accelerator), they produce ...

Der Neutrino Energy Group ist es in Zusammenarbeit mit Materialwissenschaftlern gelungen, ein Material zu entwickeln und patentieren zu lassen, das dicht genug ist, um eine Wechselwirkung (Atomic Vibrations at Nano Materials) zu bewirken und dieses Material bildet den Kern der zukünftigen NEUTRINOVOLTAIC - Zellen.

But if a neutrino"s energy is low enough, it should interact with an entire nucleus rather than its individual parts. Theorists proposed that when a low-energy neutrino approaches a nucleus, the two particles exchange an elementary particle called a Z boson. As the neutrino releases the Z boson, the neutrino bounces away.

But the quest for green-energy solutions does not end here. On the frontier of this energy revolution, a scientific breakthrough looms large, hinting at a game-changing solution - the neutrino. Previously confined to the realm ...

Neutrino energy is typically measured in electronvolts. But there is a big range of neutrino energies. Some have one-millionth of an electronvolt, and some have a quintillion electronvolts (that"s a 1 followed by 18 zeros). That means plenty of neutrinos to explore, and interesting information about the processes that formed those neutrinos. ...
